Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Confessions of a Clergyman: Anonymous Why I Did It It was a pleasant custom while it lasted - that of prefacing a book with a portrait delicately engraved on steel. One knew, or had at least a comfortable illusion of knowing, the sort of author one had fallen in with, and he was spared the embarrassment of introducing himself. But times have changed since then and customs along with them, till the very man who is preparing to unpack his soul in public shrinks awfully from exposing his lineaments to public gaze. Strange, is it not? Without a squirm, I write myself up in Who's Who, with a full list of my honors and dignities, D.D. and all. As no one rebukes my shamelessness there, why may I not risk suggesting the portrait that even I should have regarded, once in the world, as a fitting embellishment for this volume? Personally, I should like it done in oils - on the understanding, of course, that it was not to be reproduced - and I...
